

The Glorious Pickle Times

By Ellie Nowlin | Volume 4 | March 20th, 2020

TODAY'S ACTIVITIES

-Today-March 23: Put a drawing of a silly face in your window and go around the neighborhood finding others. Count how many you see!

-Mo Willems Lunch Doodle at noon on YouTube, Episode 5

-Cincinnati Zoo animal exhibit at 2:00 pm on Facebook live

-Georgia Aquarium Live Underwater Webcam

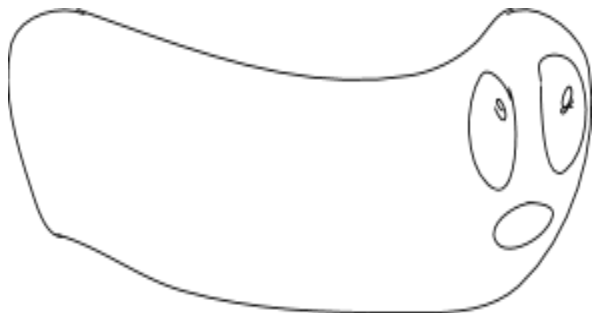

-Lots of museums are giving virtual tours! Google your favorite

-Lots of museums are giving virtual tours! Google your favorite

REVIEW

Movie: The Greatest Showman
An awesome musical about the Barnum Circus, the first circus. Has several great songs. Starring Hugh Jackman and Zac Efron. Only one bad word in a song. Ages 8+.

The Daily Bean
Featured drawing series

THE DAILY INTERVIEW

Sophie Lampert

The Lampert family had a very unique way of coping with this week's boredom. They bought twelve gallons of the most colorful paint they could find and painted each board of their fence a different color of an incredibly vibrant rainbow. "It was just so blank," said 12-year-old Sophie Lampert. "Everything should be you and happy and inspiring." The project took four days. On the first two days, they primed and painted the first fence. On the third day, they primed the rest of the fence and finished on the fourth day. "There were wasps and mosquito-eaters trying to kill us," jokes Sophie. "Plus our puppy, Chubbs, kept trying to put his nose in the paint buckets." There were struggles for sure, but the family persisted and now have the most glorious fence in the neighborhood.

"We chose the brightest colors," Sophie says, "because it gives the feeling of WHAM! I'M HERE!"

DAD JOKE OF THE DAY

What do you call a grizzly with no teeth?
A gummy bear.